SECTION 4. SPECIFIED TRAINING / EDUCATION COURSE.

The specified training course must be provided by a Breining Institute Accredited (BIA) Program provider.

The course must include at least 130 hours in five specific Modules of training listed below.

The training must build upon the applicant's previous knowledge and skills developed in order to provide advanced education and training to comprehensively support individuals struggling with addiction, mental health and/or behavioral issues:

• Module 1 – Introduction to Intervention and Case Management

 An overview of the principles and strategies on which to develop skills to successfully conduct interventions and provide the appropriate support post intervention.

Module 2 – Family Systems

 Families struggle to know what to do when faced with these issues. The coursework must explore family dynamics, make certain the student understands family systems and learn how to create a recovery plan for the entire family, as well as explore how to intervene when codependency is a component of family dynamics, including relapse risk.

• Module 3 – Addictions and Co-occurring Disorders

Drug and/or alcohol addictions are not the only issues facing the families with whom we work. Many have co-occurring mental health issues or process addictions that can make intervention and case management more complex and challenging. The coursework must make certain that students are able to identify, work with and support clients who have complex presentations.

Module 4 – Cultural Sensitivity

 Being culturally sensitive can be the difference between engaging a family and preventing the process of change. Understanding and awareness is the first step to meeting the needs of clients. Included in the training must be specific information related to issues that may be present within specialty populations such as older adults, adolescents, LGBTQ, First Responders, and Veterans.

Module 5 – Business Ethics / Professionalism / Self Care

Understanding best practices that are guided by a code of ethics is important to providing top-level client care. As a provider, maintaining professionalism is critical. Training must ensure the student understands ethical considerations as an interventionist, case manager and within the treatment industry. The training must also highlight the importance of self-care and how a well-maintained provider will be able to provide the highest level of care for clients.
